
If areas like the Cotswolds are being considered for protected status then surely the same criteria applies here in Enfield for the future population of north London and London generally.?
Yours sincerely,