Hi

I have taken a look at the Draft Local Plan and thought at the end of reading it that its title should read Daft Local Plan.

There is no need for more building on Green Belt or on any green land. If there are too many people looking for places to live start to redevelop other existing areas within the already built on enfield space. There is no need to keep just building and building when you cant manage the existing people in your locality. The Green belt was named green belt for a reason so don't play with it.
