Please take into account that Enfield, as well as being a London Borough, is also a historic market town. I was born here and I'm now in my 80s. I have seen a lot of changes. Some certainly for the good. For example I was over the moon when we first had an M&S in the town. But I certainly do not want to see another tower block in the town or building on our precious Green Belt.