Dear Councillors and all concerned

It seems shocking to me that as a nee resident of Enfield I am seeing plans that will destroy the precise reason why I moved out of condensed, polluted Islington.

I've been a North London resident all my life and it is commonly known throughout other parts of London that North London was traditionally known as 'leafy', so it really confuses me somewhat as to why the local authority are hellbent on building big apartment blocks in Enfield town (where parking is already an issue) and housing on greenbelt land?

Why have we not learned to protect the green and to develop the grey we have so many areas of underdeveloped industrial areas that could be converted into apartments and even small parks and yet we want to take the lungs of Enfield and build on them

I think it is irresponsible and disgusting that these plans have not been discussed in a wider setting, not just with the councillors and developers but ordinary residents who deserve a right to be heard in a huge decision like this.

Once the land is gone, it's gone.

Reconsider the plans and don't make the usual excuses that one expects to hear from the conservative government
