

Objection to SA32

I'm writing to object to building on all supermarket, car park and green belt sites in Enfield. There is no infrastructure to support all the housing you want to build. We would need more gp surgery's, hospitals, schools and car parks! Where would all these extra people park their cars. London is overpopulated as it is. Extra housing should be built in other parts of the country. London is full. Also for people that want to use London transport but don't live near a train station need to drive and park at train stations so car parks need to stay. People need to park cars to use trains or buses. Building anything more in Enfield will ruin the area
