

Building new houses

---

I wouldn't want to see anyone without a home, especially children but this country cannot cope now especially London.

Just too many people in a small town it has to stop.