I strongly object to the the above plan for Sainsbury's supermarket.

Main points are:

Loss of local facilities will force local users to drive longer distance to shop for their supplies.

The increase in traffic of with more housing and car user. The cars pollute more at lower speeds and the is not good for the environment.

This will need to overdevelopment of the area. Already movement is slower in the area than a few years ago.

Enfield's infrastructure has not kept pace with the significant increase in numbers.

The impending loss of parking at Ford's grove is a kick to local businesses.
