

---

There is no mention of the new Edmonton incinerator that will not achieve carbon neutral by 2040. Why is this? Why is there no mention of actual achievable renewable energy, which energy from waste is not? A solar and wind energy supply would be a great boon and up to date waste collection sorting and recycling too so as to reduce and reuse ie zero waste possible practical cheaper and easier, definitely more desirable. Answers please, pause and review. Thanks