I strongly object to the building of a crematorium in the Wetlands area. This has not long been created and is now used by many local residents. It's taken a lot of dedicated work to establish and wild life in the ponds is coming back to the area.

It's a really good area with lots of sporting activities nearby. I feel it to be a totally unsuitable place to build a crematorium creating more air pollution right next to an already polluted A10. As stated above many local residents and their children use the area for recreation it's like a visit to the countryside and I often go there with my son and his children.

There are also three schools in the nearby roads quite out of keeping with a crematorium.
