In my opinion ,”The Plan” is a completely irresponsible attempt in its scale and its impact on the area and must not be implemented.

The scale is overwhelming. The green land is the most valuable heritage and asset that we have. let us not minimise it’s value in view of the causes for which it might be sacrificed. The damage will be irreversible.

Apart from being one of the most beautiful countryside round London to be enjoyed by all, it is of historic value, it supports many businesses that have been here for decades.

If there is need for housing (I Don’t think on this scale),let us look for potential sites, brown sites, elsewhere.
