

Hello,

I support plans to allocate sections of green belt land for housing. There is a housing affordability crisis requiring considerable amounts of new housing of all forms to be built. Allocating substantial green belt land gives a chance to build things right, with consideration of active travel and low traffic neighbourhoods, from the outset. Alongside well insulated homes with modern heating systems, this will allow new residents to opt-in to a sustainable and pleasant lifestyle.

This could create a beautiful new community within Enfield.
